Project Background

The Gateway Development Commission (GDC) is a bi-state public authority charged with delivering the Hudson Tunnel Project: the cornerstone of the Gateway Program, a comprehensive set of rail investments that will improve transportation along the busiest section of the Northeast Corridor. GDC is governed by a seven-member Board appointed by Amtrak, New Jersey, and the New York State Department of Transportation. GDC works in partnership with Amtrak, NJ TRANSIT, and the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey.

The Hudson Tunnel Project (HTP) is the most urgent infrastructure project in America. It involves constructing a new two-track tunnel under the Hudson River connecting to New York Penn Station as well as the full rehabilitation of the existing 115-year-old North River Tunnel. The project will create operational flexibility, rail network redundancy, and resiliency against future impacts to the Hudson River rail crossing.
